ClearOne Releases Crestron® and AMX® Control System Modules Designed for Integration with ClearOne's StreamNet™ Products

The Software Modules are Available as a Free Download from the ClearOne Website

SALT LAKE CITY, April 5, 2012 /PRNewswire/ -- ClearOne (NASDAQ: CLRO) today announced it has released free enterprise-grade control software modules that enable AMX or Crestron integrators to seamlessly integrate these systems with StreamNet to deliver The Power of AV Over IP™ for any size commercial control and AV distribution project.

"We're giving professional AV integrators the best of both worlds by combining our industry-leading StreamNet technology for scalable AV distribution on your existing data infrastructure with these popular AMX and Crestron control systems," said Durai Ramachandiran, Product Line Manager for Multimedia and Networking Products. "These StreamNet modules allow easy control implementation to any touch-panel or mobile device providing single-interface control for both AV distribution and room systems."

Each of the integration software modules allows customization so integrators can create their own graphical user interface for any StreamNet system using a sample program source code and instructions that come with the modules.

Both the AMX and Crestron integration software modules are available for download from ClearOne website at www.clearone.com. Contact ClearOne sales at 800-707-6994 or sales@clearone.com for more information.
